FORD SEES NEED OF STRONG NAVY

Manufacturer's Views as to Military Force Changed

DISTRUSTS WORLD COURT

Conditions Call for Increased Armed Strength, He Says

DETROIT — (United Press) — Henry Ford today declared that: 1—The United States navy must be strengthened. 2—American air power must be increased. 3—The courts must be made subordinate to the people.

4—Railroads must be reorganized and centralized, possibly under some form of government control. The automobile manufacturer who is now reputed to be the richest man in the world, incidentally said he was not interested in the presidency and asserted that the financial center of America is passing from Wall Street to the middle west.

For the first time Ford, whose fame as a hater of militarism, is worldwide, voiced his belief that conditions now are such as to make increased American naval and air forces more vital than participation by the United States in any character of international world court. He frankly expressed his distrust of both the world court and league of nations, as these plans are now promulgated.

DUTY OF EUROPE

"The time may soon come when America may have to police the world," he said, in an exclusive interview with the United Press. "We can do little to help the people of Europe now," he said. "Until they do more to help themselves and we can do less with our money in Europe now than ever. The people of Europe must first set their own houses in order and clear away the rubbish of the old, worn out system of special privilege."

Rum Ring Leader Confesses

DECLARATION OF WAR NEAR

Clash Between Greeks and Turks Momentarily Expected

ULTIMATUM EXPIRES TODAY

Troops Mobilized in Readiness for Final Break

ATHENS — (United Press) — Preparations for war are being openly rushed by Greece today as only a few hours remain until the ultimatum handed the Turks at Lausanne expires.

Officers and troops have been hurriedly called in from leave. The feverish atmosphere of the Greek capital is stimulated by constant reports of counter-preparations for war on the Turkish front at Maritza. The Angora troops are being hurriedly concentrated on the Tcheradada line.

Turkish women and children are said to be fleeing from Adrianople in fear of the contemplated Greek advance. The ultimatum was handed the Turks by M. Alexandris, Greek minister at Lausanne, when Ismet Pasha, Turk envoy at the Near East peace conference refused to accept any of the demands laid down by the Athens government for payment of reparations. It expires today.

War has been openly threatened by Athens if the final conference between Alexandris and Ismet fails to find a solution. The allies, including American Minister Grew are attending the conference and their efforts are being directed toward mediation tho there seems little likelihood that either side will abandon its position.

DANDELION WINE MAKING ADDS TO CITY'S EXPENSE

DETROIT — So much dandelion wine is being made in Detroit that additional men are needed to handle the garbage tonnage, increased by the dumping of dandelion mash in cans, according to Joseph A. Martin, commissioner of public works.

Nearly every block has a garbage can filled with mash, according to reports by collectors.

BASEBALL STAR IN LOVE MIXUP

Accused by St. Louis Man of Breaking up His Home

ST. LOUIS — (Associated Press) — Rogers Hornsby, star second baseman for the St. Louis Nationals, declines to discuss the case of John A. Hine, automobile salesman, who filed a petition in the court of the domestic relations here in which Hornsby is named as having broken up Hine's home. Hearing on the petition, which asks that a divorce granted Mrs. Jeanette Pennington Hine, 23, several months ago be set aside on the grounds that it was obtained by fraud, was continued until next Friday.

A love letter signed "Roge," and purported to have been written by Hornsby, was introduced by counsel for Hine. Hine testified that his former wife had admitted to him that Hornsby was the author of the missives and that his attorneys have proof that the ball player wrote the letter.

OPERATES FLEET ALONG COAST

Second in Command is Arrested at Norfolk, Va.

BRANCHES IN FIVE COUNTRIES

Syndicate Composed of 54. With Strong Backing

NORFOLK, Va. — (Associated Press) — Federal prohibition agents today were running down evidence of a gigantic liquor smuggling syndicate following the arrest here yesterday of William L. Burwell, alias William E. Baker, who, they said, had confessed that he was operating as agent for an organization controlling the fleet of rum runners which has been off the Virginia capes for the last week.

Burwell, self-styled "second in command of the Atlantic coast rum fleet," his wife, and Rex D. Sheldor, all of New York were arrested yesterday. Warrants for their arrest charged them with unlawfully conspiring to smuggle and transfer intoxicating liquor in the United States.

The authorities said today they expected to round up members of a gigantic liquor smuggling ring with important branches in New York, Canada, London, Scotland and Bermuda. They said they had evidence that 54 men composed the syndicate, the majority of them representing large financial interests.

LIQUOR FOR WASHINGTON

Burwell was said to have admitted that he was a shore representative for the fleet, and that his business

NEW CONTRACT TO NET COMEDIAN $1,000,000 YEARLY

NEW YORK — Larry Semon, who a few years ago was a New York newspaper cartoonist at a $35 weekly salary, said today he had signed a contract with the Trust Film Corporation for the production of six slapstick comedies in the next three years which will net him $3,000,000 or more.

AIR TRIP ACROSS U. S. IS BEGUN

Lieut. Crocker on Flight from Gulf of Canada

HOUSTON, Texas — (Associated Press) — Lieutenant Harrison G. Crocker of Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas, hopped off from Ellington Field here at 5:21 a. m. for his proposed non-stop Gulf to Canada flight. He expects to land at Selfridge Field, near Detroit, Michigan, by 7 p. m.

Lieutenant Crocker is piloting a specially built De Havilland plane. It is the one Lieutenant James H. Doolittle used in his one stop cross-continental flight last year. The ship carries 240 gallons of gasoline with a 25 gallon reserve tank.

In order to avoid technicalities Lieutenant Crocker sped south from Ellington Field until over the Gulf of Mexico, turned, facing north for the remainder of the trip.

FORMER EMPLOYER IS HELD

Chicago Man Quizzed as to Possession of Pistol

MADISON, Wis. — (Associated Press) — Five posses, each consisting of ten automobiles manned by Cleveland, Ohio, and Wisconsin police and sheriff's deputies, Dane-co citizens and newspaper men of five states, left here early today determined to search all parts of Dane-co in an attempt to find John L. Whitfield, alleged slayer of a Cleveland policeman.

Whitfield was reported to have been seen yesterday when he called at the farm residence of Mrs. Edward Sprague near McFarland and asked for $2 to buy gasoline.

Mrs. Sprague identified her caller as Whitfield when late last night she was shown a photograph of the alleged slayer.

While the posses, employing bloodhounds, expect to search for Whitfield in all parts of Dane-co, they will give special attention to the hills about Lake Kegonsa, 12 miles from here, and the rough marshy country around McFarland.

PLOT TO DEFRAUD CHARGED

Counts Brothers and J. A. Shearer Are Others Taken

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — Fred Counts, former federal prohibition agent for the Cleveland district, and his brother, Attorney A. Frank Counts, were arrested today at the order of United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein on secret indictments by a federal grand jury charging them with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act and to defraud the government by obstructing prohibition enforcement.

At almost the same time government operatives for Bernstein seized Joseph A. Shearer, former federal prohibition director for Ohio and Samuel A. Hoskins, politician and church leader of southern Ohio, as they arrived here from Columbus.

PROSECUTION CHARGED

Shearer and Hoskins are charged in the same secret indictments with participation in the same alleged conspiracy to violate the Volstead act and furnish protection to others, according to Bernstein.

The Counts brothers are involved in the indictments with allegations of "protection" extended to members of the Aultbach Alcohol ring — allegations which refer to tens of thousands of dollars said to have been paid by the "ring" for the approval of permits for withdrawal of alcohol. The official who approved the permits, according to the indictments, knew that the alcohol was being put to unlawful use; that it was being disposed of for beverage purposes instead of in the manufacture of "hair tonic, toilet waters and lotions."

The charges are based upon al-

ROOTS OF NATION IN THE SOIL

Prosperity Foundations Come
From Field, Forbes Observes

COUNTRY FOLK BACKBONE

Writer Comments on Mistaken
Idea of City Dweller

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — We sometimes politely deny it, but it is true that those of us who live in very large cities flatter ourselves that we are smarter and keener and in other ways superior to country folks and those who inhabit smaller towns. The untraveled New Yorker really imagines that the whole universe revolves around New York. Nor have the citizens of, say, Chicago or Boston or Los Angeles or Detroit or Philadelphia ever been accused of underrating their merits and journey. The fact is that those who live in big cities are disposed to look upon themselves as the salt of the earth and the king pins of the nation.

Of course, they are nothing of the kind.

The roots of this nation are those that fasten themselves in the soil. The foundations of our national prosperity come from the field, the forest and mine, not from the city. The backbone of our population is composed of the men and women and children of the farm, the rural community, the small town, the city of moderate size.

It is good for the conceit and it is good for the soul of those of us who live in metropolitan cities to journey beyond our city boundaries, once in a while and find out something of the life of other places, other communities, other activities. It helps to correct our perspective, to broaden our understandings, to reduce our bump of conceit.

I visited the other day a city which struck me as an ideal example of the really typical American city, where life is lived more in accordance with the American life than in our overcrowded cities. This city is Reading, Pa.

Here is a solid, substantial, industrious community of 110,000 of whom more than 90 of every 100 are native white Americans, a city where 47 of every 100 dwellings are owned by those occupying them, a city gratefully free of poverty, a city where a city having more than one hundred churches, an abundance of efficient schools, over three hundred acres of city parks, a notably fine public museum and art gallery.

Founded in 1748 by sons of William Penn, it is rich in historic interest. Occupying a site at the intersection of two great valleys, extending from the Delaware to the Susquehanna, and the Valley of the Schuylkill, reaching from the Blue Mountain Range to the Delaware at Philadelphia, it draws upon rich agricultural territory populated by thrifty, hardworking folks, many of them of Dutch descent. The city boasts some seven hundred manufacturing plants, being third in Pennsylvania in industrial importance, two hundred and fifty wholesale establishments, 2,350 retail stores and sixteen banks.

The whole place impresses one with its substantiality, its solidity, its air of stability. There is a notable atmosphere of friendliness among its inhabitants. There is far more home sociability than we have in the big cities. There is no wide gap between business and home life, as there is in the big cities. Reading is known as a "singing city." I attended a church social, where it seemed to me that every one of the four hundred or more present sang popular songs with unusual gusto.

Whenever I visit a prosperous, progressive, active city I try to find out the reason therefor. And, of course, the answer is always, "It takes the form of communiting," the city's most influential business men, for after all, development and progress are the fruit of intelligent, aggressive leadership.

I found Reading particularly proud of William H. Ludden and his mammoth plant, which in busy times, turns out thirty tons of Ludden's cough drops in ten hours. He buys sugar from the city and the city, in turn, buys the drops. He told me that it didn't seem so long ago that he transported all his raw material under his arm from a neighboring store. The going at first was heart-breaking hard. By and by he staked everything on a nation-wide advertising campaign. It almost broke him financially, but he stuck to it and, after three years, began to reap the reward.

About ten years ago a party of business men were traveling thru Virginia, Maryland and Washington, and in the spirit of fun one of the party suggested Mr. Ludden that he could not buy Ludden's cough drops in the first store they would select after leaving the train at Washington, D. C. So the party took a jaunt to obscure little town where one of them laughingly asked for a package of Ludden's cough drops, which to his surprise, were promptly delivered, costing him $100.00—five cents for the cough drops and $100 for the wagon. Ludden is now some fifty years old. Mr. Ludden is still actively on the job.

The city likes to tell visitors also, about Lambert B. Rohr, President of the important Reading Hardware Company. Mr. Rohr started life as a plasterer but developed into a builder on a large scale. Early in his career, while working in the coal regions he received a black hand letter from the Molly Maguires, but called the bluff, singlehanded, of the leader of the gang who came to murder him. Courage has been the outstanding trait of Mr. Rohr ever since. Ten years ago Reading Hardware Co. fell into financial difficulties and the banks refused to lend any more assistance until Mr. Rohr was prevailed upon to take hold. The common stock, then worth next to nothing, now commands $140 a share. He is owner of a large lumber business. President of a bank, has developed sand and coal properties, and although he is now rich, he still reports for work every morning at 8:40.

FORMER AUGLAIZE CO OFFICIAL INDICTED IN LIQUOR CONSPIRACY

SAMUEL A. HOSKINS

Charged with participation in an alleged conspiracy to violate the Volstead act and furnish protection to others, S. A. Hoskins, former Auglaize co official, was placed under arrest in Cleveland. Former Federal Prohibition Commissioner Joseph A. Shearer and others are also indicted.

Hoskins practiced law in Auglaize co for many years and later moved to Columbus. He was former director of banks and engaged in manufacturing and farming. Hoskins was prosecuting attorney of Auglaize co from 1901 to 1907, a member of the Constitutional Convention in 1912 from that county and was state civil service commissioner in 1913 and 1914.

He has resided in Columbus for several years.

$750 FINE LEVIED IN LIQUOR CASE

Cloverdale Man Pleads Guilty to Transportation Charge

M. L. Creeger, 38, of Cloverdale, captured Friday night after unloading 20 quarts of "moonshine" liquor from his automobile near the N. West-st road, was fined $750 and his new touring car, worth about $1,700 was confiscated, when he pleaded guilty in criminal court Saturday to a charge of transporting liquor.

Creeger was arrested by Police Chief Lanker and Captain George Strick following a tip Friday afternoon.

The police waited for Creeger to come along about three miles north of the city. He stopped his car and unloaded a trunk which was found to contain liquor. While Captain Strick located the liquor in its hiding place, Lanker arrested Creeger.

Creeger did not have an attorney when he appeared in criminal court Saturday and pleaded guilty.

The automobile will probably be surrendered for sale by the city in the near future, officials say.

Chief Lanker believes Creeger has been furnishing liquor for local establishments, he said Saturday. Bottles similar to those confiscated have been found in raids of Lima places, the chief said.

DELPHOS BOY IS ORDAINED

Hilary S. Weger Becomes Priest
—First Mass Sunday

A number of Delphos people were in Toledo, Saturday, to witness the ceremonies at the Cathedral, attendant upon the ordination of Hilary S. Weger, of Delphos, to the priesthood, by Bishop Samuel Stritch.

The young man is the first contributed to the priesthood of the Catholic church by St. John's parish of Delphos. Father Weger will celebrate his first solemn high mass at St. John's church in Delphos Sunday at 9 a. m., assisted by other priests. Rev. F. Rupert, the pastor will deliver the sermon.

Special services will also be held at the church Saturday evening, when the newly ordained priest will bestow his blessing upon the assembly. Rev. Father Gabel, former assistant pastor at Delphos, will preach. Sunday evening, at St. John's auditorium a public reception will be held. Rev. Frederick Rupert will preside. Five former classmates of Father Weger, in the Delphos parochial school, will serve at the dinner to be given Sunday in honor of the new priest. They are Misses Clara Peters, Rose Reddy, Anna Kierman, Mary Burger and Eulalia Wulfsberg. Father Weger graduated from St. John's high school in 1912 and took a post graduate course in 1913.

Solemn vespers will be held in the church at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. Rev. Alfred Pate will give the sermon. An elaborate program has been arranged for the evening reception.

A reunion of Sisters of the Catholic church who formerly resided in Delphos will be held here Sunday, on the occasion of the celebration of the first mass by Father Weger.

LAYCOCK NABBED

This Time on Federal Charge of Violating Dyer Act

Cad Laycock, 33, of E. Market-st., was held in city prison Saturday, awaiting arraignment before U. S. Commissioner. Long on a charge of violation of the Dyer act, Laycock is accused specifically with interstate shipment of a stolen automobile which, it is charged, was recovered at Wapakoneta by federal officers co-operating with local police.

Blas Morton of the intelligence department of the Ohio division of the government service, carried on the investigation of Laycock's case, according to Police Chief Lanker.

Detective Ward Taylor arrested Laycock on E. Market-st. at about 11 a. m. Saturday. A deputy U. S. marshal from Toledo will take him in charge.

MOOSE HOLD MEMORIAL FOR LATE HARRY WILSON

Memorial services were held by Moose Lodge members at the Williams & Davis mortuary Friday night for Harry F. Wilson, who died Friday at St. Rita's hospital, following an illness from complications.

The body was taken to Logansport, Indiana, Saturday morning where funeral services will be held. Wilson is survived by a brother, Harvey Wilson of Lima and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Sands and Miss Maude Wilson, of Logansport.

JUDGE GOES FISHING

Judge Fred C. Becker of common pleas court and Walter Scott, official court stenographer, fled official cars Saturday for a week's fishing in Michigan. They will drive to Houghton lake. Judge Becker makes the trip to the lake each year for a week's angling.

HIT BY TRAIN, MAY DIE

J. A. Schoenwald, Ohio City business man, is believed fatally injured at Bluffton, Ind. His auto was struck by a train at a grade crossing at Bluffton Friday.

MOISTURE SEEN IN FORECAST

Promise of showers Friday night was fulfilled only to a slight degree, but the intentions of the weatherman were perfectly honest, it should be remembered.

Undaunted by failure for the most part in his prediction of Friday, the forecaster comes thru Saturday with promise of unsettled conditions tonight and Sunday, probably local rains and cooler in a Lake Erie.

Real summer temperatures have prevailed for the most part of the way during the past 24 hours, and is expected to continue. Hence, the prospect of cold interfering with a Sunday baseball game at Murphy's lot is not so marked as the possibility of rain handing Bernie Haloran another jolt.

Ted is all set for the afternoon pastime, having been engaged during the week in sandlot practice, using tin cans for bases and the alley fence as a backdrop. Added warmth has revived the enthusiasm of fishermen who have been visiting lakes and streams and being "skunked" regularly while cold weather prevailed.

DONAHEY BARRED IN APPOINTMENTS

Crabbe Rules on Recess Selection of Officers

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — Governor Donahey may not make recess appointments according to a ruling made today by Attorney General Crabbe. The opinion was rendered in response to a request from the executive office for information regarding the status of state officers appointed by the governor to succeed others whose terms expire while the senate is not in session and whose appointments are subject to confirmation by the senate.

At the same time the attorney general advised the governor that the senate is not in session within the meaning of the law even if it is technically in a state of "recess for five minutes" ending December 31.

The opinion reverses the former custom of Ohio governors of making appointments during a recess, the appointees occupying their offices until the senate returned to act upon them.

According to Mr. Crabbe the governor's power to make appointments subject to senate confirmation is limited to instances where offices have been vacated by death or resignation of incumbents.

GOVERNOR DONAHEY'S ROAD BUILDING HOPE BLASTED

COLUMBUS — Governor Donahey's hope to hold to a minimum construction of high-priced types of roads was blasted by a decree of the supreme court yesterday when the court issued a writ of mandamus, under which Highway Director Herrick must execute a contract for construction of four miles of concrete road in Jackson co.

Contractor M. J. Junk, Chillicothe contractor, whose bid of $130,000 was low for the job, was awarded the contract by Herrick.

Governor Donahey thru Finance Director Baker had refused to approve the contract. Junk brought suit to compel the highway director to execute the contract.

FORMER GERMAN OFFICER SHOT

Executed by French Troops for Sabotage on Railroads

ADMITS WRECKING BRIDGES

Clashes Between Communist and Police in Ruhr Renewed

DUESSELDORF—(Associated Press)

Albert Schlageter was executed by French troops today for sabotage on railroads in the occupied region and other offenses. He was shot in a stone quarry near a cemetery and his body was delivered forthwith to the cemetery authorities.

This is the first execution in the occupied zone.

Schlageter was escorted to the quarry by two priests and went unflinchingly to his death. Ten shots were fired at him.

Besides sabotage, Schlageter, a former Prussian officer, was convicted by a French court-martial of espionage and association with criminals. He admitted he had blown up railroad tracks and bridges.

The French regarded him as a chief of the murder gangs which have been carrying on a campaign of terror against the occupation of the Ruhr.

CLASHES RENEWED
BERLIN—(United Press)—Looting hands of communists marched through the industrial strongholds of the Ruhr valley today, opposed only by diminutive forces of German civil police. The French troops are keeping "hands off."

Five were wounded in a clash near Dortmund early this morning. The "reds" of that district have rejected proposed wage increases and additional employees in industrial plants near the city quit their jobs to join the communists forces.

The looters fought with firemen at Bochum and five were wounded there also. Two newspaper plants were stormed and the presses damaged. An attempt was made to burn one of the offices. Stores were plundered.

The situation appears worse today than at any time since the first communist outbreak several weeks ago. The government is hard pressed and preventive measures consist almost solely of appeals to the French to permit increase in policing forces.

In Duesseldorf trolley lines have been stopped and the gas and electric light plants are not operating because of the strike.

Peaceful demonstrations of workers were reported at Herne.

PAULING-CO WILL AID IN HOSPITAL SUPPORT

Pauling-co commissioners favor admission to the tuberculosis hospital district as the sixth member of the group of counties which support the Sharnock institution. W. W. Craig, county commissioner, announced Saturday after his return from Paulding. He was accompanied by Paulding by Dr. C. A. Files, superintendent, and Commissioner Custer of Van Wert-co. Other counties are to be shelved later. Allen, Auglaize, Mercer, Shelby and Van Wert-cos contribute toward support of the hospital. Hardin-co, one of five invited to join the district, will decline, it was announced some time ago.

AUTOS IN COLLISION

A large touring car driven by R. W. Andrews, Y. M. C. A., was damaged Friday night when another car driven by T. D. Hattinock, 1436 W. North-st., ran into it on Lakewood-av, according to police reports. The lights, fenders and one wheel were bent and broken. Damage will probably amount to $100. None was injured.

Lanker Against Use Of Streets As Auto Garages

Lima streets must not be used as garages.

This was the order Police Chief T. A. Lanker gave all members of the department Friday night, in telling them to warn owners of cars which were left all night on the streets.

"People may park cars in the proper places," he said, "but many have the habit of leaving automobiles in the streets all night. This is especially true of persons stopping at hotels. The practice must be broken up, because our street cleaners cannot work to advantage."

An educational campaign will be carried on for 10 days, the chief announced, after which violators of the ruling will be arrested and charged with blocking the streets.

Another traffic violation which must be observed concerns parking cars and leaving motors running, Chief Lanker said. This is a very dangerous practice. When a person leaves a car in the street, no matter how quickly he or she expects to return, the engine must be shut off, Lanker said.

MARITAL GRIEF IS LAID TO WILD WOMEN BY WIFE

Wild women made a wild man of John H. Cox, Columbus, Mrs. Vessie Cox, charges in a divorce action filed in common pleas court Saturday.

Cox, according to his mate, was out at all hours and mostly all night with women of doubtful repute. He neglected his wife and son, Franklin, 13, in the meantime, the plaintiff asserts.

The defendant is also accused of using bad language toward his wife and child and refusing to provide for them.

Care and custody of the son is sought in the petition. No alimony is asked.

BOY IS MISSING; SEARCH FUTILE

Mother of John Woodall, Aged 9, Fears He is Dead

Police Saturday were seeking John Woodall, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Woodall, 1141 S. Main-st., who mysteriously disappeared Friday afternoon.

Parents of the lad fear he has been the victim of an accident.

Playmates of the Woodall boy said they saw him about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon going thru an alley near Whittier school, which he attends.

At 12:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, his mother said Saturday, the boy left home after lunch, with his brother, Raymond, 7. They went to the school grounds and were separated.

School was dismissed at 2 o'clock because of a parent-teacher club meeting. Mrs. Woodall attended and afterward went home with Raymond. After a few hours of waiting for John, she notified the police. Officers made an extended search of different parts of the city but could find no trace of the boy.

When he left home, young Woodall was attired in brown trousers, brown stockings, a dark green cap and tennis shoes. He wore a blouse, but no coat. "He's never done such a thing before," Mrs. Woodall said. "He never tells me when he's going to do something, but I'm sure if he was in town Friday night he would have returned home."

"I'm afraid he went fishing and fell into the water or something else has happened to him. I have all sorts of thoughts about it."

Police are lending every possible aid in an effort to locate the lad. Each officer has a description of the boy.

ORDER PROPERTY SOLD

Assets of H. B. Richter and wife, S. Main-st. cigar merchants have been ordered by common pleas court to be sold. The business place was recently closed when the owner left town. Receiver was named on application of the Peerless Candy Co. The property must bring $550, the court order specifies. Bills receivable are not to be included in the sale.

NATIONAL DANGER SEEN BY FESS

Irresponsible Spending is Menace, Senator Tells Realtors

One of the greatest dangers to American business in a period of intense activity is the national habit of irresponsible spending, United States Senator Simon D. Fess told members of the Realtors association Friday evening at the banquet at the Elks' club.

Business men of the nation are disposed to assume that the high level of business will never go lower, he said. Failure to keep a hand on the throttle often results in a crash. When people deal in prices instead of values, as they did during the war period of inflation, the point at which prices and values separate, brings trouble, he said.

The present high pitch of business intensity need cause no alarm, Fess declared, until the cost of production becomes abnormally high.

Abnormal production costs mean danger, he warned. Nor is there any particular danger that depression will set in as the natural result of the present boom. The economic and industrial fabric of the nation is so interwoven that it is reinforced in itself, he believes.

High taxes will continue because progressive institutions require constant increase. Citizens of the nation, while constitutionally opposed to high taxes, will never permit retrogression of the school system, he declared as one explanation. Senator Fess pointed the way to realtors by which they might counteract what he declared to be a growing sentiment against the rights of property in the nation.

By assisting to keep cost levels below the point at which it is cheaper to rent a home than to buy one, they can help multiply the number of home owners in America.

The most effective method of eliminating the man who advocates forcible seizure of property, the speaker declared, is to see that he becomes a property owner.

FEARS FOR HER LIFE. WOMAN TELLS IN SUIT FOR DECREE OF DIVORCE

Threats alleged to have been made against her life by Samuel King, laborer, 1015 E. Fourth-st., so inspired Mrs. Nancy King with fear for her safety she retaliated with a suit for divorce filed in common pleas court Saturday.

An injunction restraining the defendant from molesting her, or disposing of or carrying away household goods claimed by the plaintiff, during pendency of the suit, was granted by Judge Fred C. Becker.

Mrs. King recites in her petition that altho her husband has no property, he earns good wages when he can be induced to work. At present he is in the employ of Frank Frohase & Co., excavation contractors.

The plaintiff asserts she is the owner of all household goods used in common by the two and in addition owns real estate in St. Marys.

WISH YOU WERE?

A HUNDINGER with a canoe was Big John Canadian—the only man who ever shot the Lachine Rapids of the St. Lawrence River, near Montreal, in a canoe. That was years ago, when Big John was a young Indian.

Once a year he performed his miracle of skill, as pictured by Artist Satterfield in the accompanying pen-picture. And when Big John went into action, Montreal shut up shop, locked its stores and houses, closed the schools. Nearly everybody in town flocked to watch the master canoeist. They would resent the suggestion, but possibly the lure was their subconscious hope that they would see Big John drowned. That's what draws people to all daredevil stunts.

A secondary attraction was the fact that Big John, in shooting the Lachine Rapids, was doing something that no one else could do. The man who can lift only 100 pounds is eager to see the lifter who can hoist 500. And the 500-lb. lifter will pay almost any price to see the champion who lifts more.

Skill is admired by most people. In nearly all cases skill is physical, either of muscles or firm nerves. All this is a product of a civilization carved out by strength, by man power.

It will not be many generations until all that will be ancient history. Mechanical progress is dooming physical skill of the individual. Brain skill is taking its place, the skilled mechanic in many fields already losing his firm grip as the automatic device or improved method takes his place.

The expression, "Feel my muscle!" is gradually going into ancient history. The Brain Era dawns.

"OVERHEAD"

THE French government built 3300 military airplanes in 1922, England only 200. The English, however, are not as fearful of being bombed from the air by the French raiders as some of us are apt to gather from our fragmentary reading of European news.

What worries them most is voiced in the House of Lords by Lord Birkenhead. He is alarmed chiefly at France "expending large sums on these enormous armaments while owing us immense sums which there is no prospect of our receiving either at present or in the near future."

OUR WORST EXPLOSIVE

NEARLY 432 million pounds of explosives were sold in our country during 1922, the Bureau of Mines announces. For industrial uses, such as coal mining.

We imprison, transport and release a stupendous power in the commercial use of explosives, a power that combined is almost beyond imagination.

And yet we are unable to control the explosive, human emotion. So we have war, poverty, misery, broken hearts. Man has less control over himself than he has over anything else in life—even the climate and weather.

Over in London, Bonar Law has resigned, which reminds us "Who remembers the bonus law we planned to pass?"

People picking presidential possibilities are working on the old saying every boy has a chance to become president.

YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Prepared for The Lima News by Rev. Hugh T. Stevenson

Death compels all men to stop and think when they stand in its mists. Such an hour came to Uzziah died," when he was in the young Isaiah "in the year that King consecrated Temple of worship that had also been the place of punishment for Uzziah, the brilliant statesman. Under the leadership of the late king, Judah had attained a position among the nations, that was never surpassed during the days of the Divided Kingdom. Brooding over the tragic end of the king he loved, Isaiah, having entered the Temple. The young patriot, recalling how Uzziah, who represented in his person the nation, had died a leper under the condemnation of Jehovah, evidently feared that God had turned against Judah.

Suddenly against that dark background the prophet caught a vision of God that changed his whole career.

ISAIAH, THE STATESMAN PROPHET. — 2 Kings 18:13-20; Isaiah 1:1; 6:1-13. (A Survey of Isaiah's Life.) Golden Text:—Here am I; send me. Isa. 6:8.

Isaiah saw the Lord on the throne of his glory, on the throne of his government, on the throne of his holiness. He heard the voice of the Seraphim speak of Jehovah's holiness. While there are many other attributes of God's being, like love, light, goodness and mercy, yet the crowning attribute of Jehovah is holiness. In the Bible holiness stands for unadorned, unadorned, unadorned moral perfection. It is holiness that gives absolute justice to God's government and saves His grace from the charge of indifference to moral principles.

The vision of Jehovah reacted upon the seer. It compelled him to stop and consider his own life. According to the standards of men and society Isaiah was a very good man but in the white light of God's holiness, the prophet realized his own unfitness and uselessness. The contrast between God's character and his own filled him with fear so that he cried out: "Woe is me for I am undone." Every soul that has stood in the presence of God has had a similar experience. Peter standing in the presence of the Christ realized that he was a sinful man, just as Isaiah did that day in the Temple, when he became a new man.

If Isaiah's vision had stopped at this point, the world would never have heard of the greatest of all the prophets of the Old Testament. The Seraph drew near to him with a live coal from the altar and as he touched the prophet's lips declared, "Thy sin is purged." The glowing stone was not a part of the temple furniture, but it belonged to the home. In the union of the teachings of the Temple and the home the penitent youth found the lesson of religion. The Value of Isaiah's vision was that it revealed to him his duty. It was not an inspiring task to which the brilliant young scholar was called. His training in Jerusalem, where he was born and educated, had been in the official circles. The prophet faced the difficulties and trials of a ministry which covered nearly fifty years with confidence. The vision of service that God gave to him contained a proper perspective of the mission of Judah and his duty. Isaiah understood after his vision of duty that his success was not to be measured by the standards of men, who demanded immediate results, but by the eternal values put upon his mission by the Lord.

ISAIAH'S MISSION
As soon as the prophet's lips had been cleansed and the sin, that was deeper than that the lips, he responded to the call of service. The condition of society and the needs of the state had weighed heavily upon Isaiah. It was because he saw the nation's need that the patriot had responded immediately to God's call for volunteers. Quicken by his spiritual faith, the prophet looked at his country in the spirit of the God of holiness. It is doubtful if Isaiah knew exactly where God wanted him to preach to the people whose heart was fat, care heavy, and eyes closed to their actual condition. It was enough for the seer to know that God wanted someone to go somewhere. God never called a better fitted man for his service than Isaiah who commenced his mission when his nation was imperilled. Judah's position as a buffer state brought international problems to the front in Jerusalem. International intrigue, treachery and antagonism were prevalent. The prophet saw that the princes, priests and people of his day were controlled by corruption. He noted the alienation that existed between the classes, that manifested itself in the divisions that existed between the upper and lower social classes and between the rich and poor. Judah was suffering from the aftermath of war that intensified these divisions and differences. Isaiah recognized the complications that Judah faced with Egypt on the south and Assyria on the east, as well as the new power developing in the east, south of Assyria with Babylon as its capital. He perceived however, that Judah's problems were not so much political and social, as they were religious. Their religion had become formal. They lived lives of disobedience and distrust. He was entrusted with a message that promised the nation salvation and security.

ISAIAH'S MESSAGE
Isaiah was an evangelist with a message that called for the people to repent and reform. Against the dark ground of ruin caused by sin, he painted a message of hope through the salvation offered by the Lord. His experience of God's grace enabled him to preach the assurance of salvation that Jehovah would save the nation through the remnant that were left. They had the possibilities of being saved through their repentance and faith. He clearly perceived the relation that Judah held to all the other nations. "Zion's righteousness was to go forth as brightness, to bless all nations of the earth."

While Isaiah was the gospel preacher of the prophets whose addresses marked the golden age of Jewish literature, he was a preacher of a social message. He pointed out that the vanity of the ladies was an offense against the law of God. He ridiculed it most unapologetically. He denounced the upstart Shabaz and the profiteer traders of Syria as offenders against social fairness and justice. He took a strong position on the temperance question. He severely censured both the priests and prophets when they were found indulging in strong drink because of the wrong influence they exerted. He denounced the formality of their religious life. In no uncertain words he demanded that they prove the reality of their faith by their life. "Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before Mine eyes; cease to do evil, learn to do well; seek justice, relieve the oppressed, deal justly with the fatherless, plead for the widow." The words of Amos refused to satisfy the men who insisted that he preach the smooth things and propsey deceits.

His message to individuals, society and the state were based upon a few cardinal principles which served as a good guide at all critical junctures. He believed the nation was under the protecting care of Jehovah, who was not only a holy God but also all powerful. The peace, prosperity, as well as the security of the nation, depended on their faith in Him and obedience to His law. He opposed all entangling alliances with other nations, not because he favored a policy of isolation but because, and his spiritual ideals. He saw in the proposed alliances a source of spiritual weakness that would ruin Judah by corruption and degeneracy. He dared to oppose the king even in the hour of war. He considered that Judah would be invulnerable, not through membership in a league composed of foreign powers, but by her absolute dependence and trust in Jehovah.

He advocated a policy of quietness and faith when Judah was threatened from the north. The wisdom of his statesmanship was demonstrated then as well as when Sennacherib made his campaign against the nation and was defeated through a divine interference that routed the conqueror's army and liberated the beleaguered city. The aftermath that has followed the world war is due to the fact that the allied nations were not united with the same spiritual motive that prompted our activities in the War. Treaties, conferences, associations and covenants will all fail unless they are established upon a religious foundation, which Isaiah predicted would come with the advent of the Messianic Kingdom.

When Jesus returns as Messiah, then according to Isaiah, he will be moved by his teachings to do away with war and turn the weapons of warfare into implements for the development of agriculture. He looked forward to the time when there would be an international court, whose impartial decisions would be based upon law, founded upon religious principles and ideals. The success of this world court depended in the view of Isaiah upon men accepting the precepts, principles and promises of God's word as their guide in solving all the problems of men and nations. When Christ rules oppression will cease and justice will be established. Across the centuries that have intervened since the prophet's day were summoned by Isaiah to hasten on the proclamation of the gospel to help bring in the new era.

E. COLLIN'S WORK ROUTS IDEA HE'S SLIPPING

Leading American In Many Departments

CHICAGO — Eddie Collins, star second baseman with the Chicago White Sox, throwing the biggest surprise of the American league season, judging from his performance to date revealed in averages compiled Saturday.

Collins is playing a snapper game than ever, fielding with remarkable brilliancy, and is threatening to capture the batting honors of the league—all after 17 years of major league service and at a time when thousands of fans are raising the cry that he is slowing up.

In answer to the chant that he is "slipping" Collins today is leading the league in base stealing with 13 thefts, and made the best showing of the batters during the week, increasing his averages 26 points for an average of .356 for 29 games, placing him third in the list of leading hitters.

"Babe" Ruth like Collins, is playing better baseball this season in the opinion of his admirers who say the big fellow is covering more ground, is in better physical condition, and is determined to make this his banner season. Ruth added 24 points to his average of a week ago and bagged four homers, running his string to eight, while Ken Williams, of the Browns, who started piling up the circuit blows before "Babe" got his eye on the ball,
made only one, which was enough,
however, to give him the edge over Ruth.

TIES WILLIAMS
Ruth, in addition to closing the home run gap between himself and Williams, has tied the St. Louis star for total base honors. Ruth's hits, besides his homers, include ten doubles and three triples, while Williams' blows include five doubles and three triples, in addition to nine homers.

Another department in which "Babe" is going stronger than his rivals is the scoring. Ruth has counted 30 times in his 81 games.

Harry Heilmann, the Detroit star, who led the league with a mark of .513 a week ago, felt the sting of good pitching and fell into a slump. He continues to top the batters, however, with an average of .448. Dick Reiche, the former University of Illinois star, now with the Red Sox, is the runner up with an average of .307. Bing Miller of the Athletics is next with .361.

Other leading batters for twenty or more games: Ruel, Washington
.357; E. Collins, Chicago .357;

Jamieson, Cleveland .355; S. Rice,
Washington .351; Cobb, Detroit
.350; Welch, Philadelphia .345;
Veatch, Detroit .338; Ruth, New York .333.

GOOD WORK
Nuts of the Dodgers and Traynor
of the Pirates are making an impressive showing among the National League batters, none of whom, however, has been able to depose the veteran Zack Wheat of Brooklyn, from the top of the heap.
Wheat continues in front with an average of .417, with Grim, also of the Pirates trailing with .404. Bottomley of the Cardinals is perched in third place with .399. Neis boosted his mark from .355 to .372
and Traynor went to .364 from
.344.

"Cy" Williams of the Phillies is the class of the league in home run hitting having poled sixteen. He is the first major league player to pass the century mark for total base honors this season. His hits give him a total of 104 bases, which beside his homers, includes six doubles and three triples.

Max Carey of the Pirates is creeping up on Sammy Bohne of the Reds for stolen base honors, the speedy Pittsburgher having negotiated six to Carey's seven.
Other leading batters for twenty
or more games: Southworth, Boston .394; Frisch, New York .375;
Hornsby, St. Louis .375; Neis, Brooklyn .372; Traynor, Pittsburgh .364; McInnis, Boston .363;
Youngs, New York .355; Kelly,
New York .344; Flack, St. Louis
.344.

JOE RIGGERT IS VALUABLE TO ST. PAUL CLUB

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Joe Riggert, veteran outfielder of the St. Paul club of the American Association, playing his twelfth season with the Saints, is one of the most valuable men on the club, according to Manager Mike Kelly.

During the spring training trip
there was much conversation about Riggert, due largely to the fact that no one except Riggert, himself, had a very definite idea as to his age.
Among the ball players his age was estimated as "anywhere from 34 to 60."

Manager Kelly says he has definitely established Riggert's age.
Joe came into Kelly's office the other morning and Kelly says:
"Without waiting to say 'Good morning,' I said, 'Joe, how old are you?' He said '36 years' before he had time to think and I am satisfied he is right about it."

HINES, PENN STAR, GLAD HE WAS YOUNG, JOHNSON FAST

Hinkle Haines, former Penn State football and baseball star, is now a member of the New York Yankees.

Haines and Killinger starred at Penn State about the same time.
Killinger had the edge in football and there was little to choose between them in baseball from a college standpoint.

The New York Yankees paid the two collegian stars plenty of lack to sign. Killinger, most figured on of the two, has failed as a big leaguer. He is now with Atlanta in the Southern Association.

Manager Huggins believes Haines

This season Joe is playing right field, and hitting in fourth position.
His work is of such a nature that Manager Kelly says he has no intention of switching him, whatever shake-ups may come in the batting order.

The veteran comes up to the plate, regardless of how many may be on, as the he didn't care much what happened so long as he got up there with three bats swinging. Discarding two of them, he walks to the batting box. He bats from the right side, planting his right foot firmly, slumping his body a bit, and he faces the pitcher.

To those unfamiliar with his style
Riggert's actions in the batter's box seem to indicate that he is easy for a curve. When he swings he pulls his left foot away from the plate, taking a long cut at the ball, and usually hitting into left field.

Haines has a chance. Haines is a wonderful fielder, has a great arm and is very fast, but he is just so-so at the bat.
The college ball player, doesn't care much for speed. Recently Haines saw Walter Johnson shut out the Yankees, 3 to 0, at Washington. Johnson was very fast, had one of his good days.

"I am glad I'm warming the bench today with Johnson showing all that speed," said Haines to Babe
Ruth.

His fast one today was his slow ball 10 years ago," replied Ruth in all seriousness.

"I am glad I was at Penn State
when he was good," answered Haines. "Why he's so fast today he has me blinking sitting on the bench. Bet I'd think I was blindfolded if I was up there trying to hit."

State Tennis And Track Meets On

COLUMBUS, O. — Semi-finals
in the state high school tennis tournament got under way here Saturday at the same time that the first heats of the preliminaries of the Ohio High School Athletic Association's annual track and field meet events were being started at Ohio State University.

Eighty-eight high schools are represented, having sent approximately 340 athletes to compete in the various events. The schools have been divided into two classes, A.
and B. On paper the Lakewood high school appears to be one of the strongest class A. teams. Conjecture points to no outstanding team
in class B.

Tennis form displayed by this year's contestants was said to be above that of the average for high school players. The winner of the Richardson, Newark, and Bickle, Ironton match will meet the victor of the Buleu, Columbus East and Smith, Youngstown Rayen, set in the finals Saturday afternoon for the state championship.

Following the singles, Columbus East will meet Bowling Green and Cathedral Latin, Cleveland, will engage Cleveland Central, in the doubles semi-finals. The winners of these matches will decide the 1923
state doubles champions in the afternoon. There will be a new champion in the doubles this year as Youngstown Rayen, 1922 champions, met defeat by Cathedral Latin in the second round yesterday. Bickle, Ironton, 1922 singles champion, is said to stand a good chance to repeat.

Famous Camp Where Dempsey Trains

GREAT FALLS, Mont. — Spirits of Lewis and Clark haunt Jack Dem-psey's training quarters.

Shades of the gallant explorers,
who blazed the white man's trail
thru the great northwest, hover over the spot where the champion is pummeling his sparring partners.

Here 119 years ago these daring pioneers made camp. Just a mile above on the banks of the swiftly rushing Missouri, where the Cascade county poor-farm stands today, they

JACK'S TRAINING QUARTERS

smoked the pipe of peace with hostile Indians.

Grizzlies were encountered on a little island half a mile from the scene of Dempsey's camp on July 4, 1804. So Lewis and Clark called the island "White Bear." That has been its name ever since.

But there is even more history behind the present "Dempseyville."
A century after Lewis and Clark had come, Old Brewer Volk, known for miles around, was there brewing

his Hops. It was his grandson, Charley Volk, who closed the deal with Dempsey for the property.

The old brewery burned down some years ago. A roadhouse sprang up in its place. The old orchestra piano still was in the living room
when Jack moved in.

Now the inner dance hall is a rubbing room and bath. The outer hall is a gymnasium.

With Jack are his two brothers,
John and Bernard.

Contest To Chicago

Pittsburgh won its seventh consecutive contest and the second straight of its series with St. Louis 2 to 1. The Giants outslugged the Quakers 12 to 8.

Brooklyn slipped from a short stay in the first division with third position within its grasp up until the ninth inning when the Boston Braves opened a batting rally in the ninth, winning 7 to 4.

Grover Alexander led Cincinnati
down with two hits and Pete Donohue, who has fared badly in recent starts was given poor support, the Cubs passing both the Cardinals and Robins and resting in third place. The score was 4 to 0.

May Tax All
Betting

LONDON — Great Britain, most heavily taxed nation in the world, whose trade is crippled and whose unemployed number over 1,400,000,
is nevertheless such a huge agglomeration of gamblers that the government is thinking seriously of raising revenue thru a tax on all bets.

Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, in presenting his annual budget estimates to the House of Commons, said he was much attracted to the idea of a tax on betting. He proposed to name a committee to examine into the matter and see what possibilities it held.

Well, it has been represented that the possibilities were just $12,000,- 000! While gives you an idea of how bet-crazy the English people are.

Contrasts with the United States are startling. In America horse racing at the big tracks is allowed only in Kentucky, New York and one of two other states, and then for a few weeks in the year.

RACING ALL YEAR
Britain has racing practically all year. Only a sudden snowstorm halts it.

In the United States, betting is illegal, except at the tracks. Makers of hand-books are subject to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Even on some of the tracks book-makers are barred.

Thus in Kentucky, betting is by the pari-mutuel system where the public virtually bets with itself, winners getting all the money, less a percentage for the track and state.
In Britain, the pari-mutuel system is not in vogue. And here is a peculiar thing: Certain kinds of bookmakers are following a legal business; others are following an illegal business.

EASY IF RICH
It is due to one of the crazy kinks in the British law. The law was framed ostensibly to protect the poor man from the temptations of betting.

There are the legal book-makers
who will accept your bets provided your financial responsibility and your status is vouched for by several men they know. No cash money passes. And at the end of the week's betting, if you have won, the book-maker sends you a check. If you have lost, he sends you a bill
and you send him a check.
The poor man naturally can't deal with these top-lofty gamblers. So he lays a few shillings with the outlawed hand-book men who dodge around the corner when they see the police coming.

Baseball
Here On Sunday

Miamasburg's nine will meet the Lima Independents at Murphy-st park Sunday afternoon, in what should be a much better ball game than on previous Sunday afternoons.

The visitors always put out real teams and they will present a far stronger lineup, it is believed, than the Rail-Lights, Duquesnes, or Com-rads have in the last few weeks.

Bill Galbragh, athletic coach of the Bellaire, O., high school was expected home Sunday in time to play with the Independents. Bill's work season was very fine and local fans will welcome his return to the lineup.

Burdette, South high athletic coach, will do the third base coaching, working for the locals on Sunday afternoon. It has been a little off color in the first games of the season and for that reason Burd-ette's presence will be welcomed.

Miamasburg is a member of the K. I. O. league which opens June 3.

COULD HARDLY
DO ANY WORKSince Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound This Woman Feels So Well

Kecoughton, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and read it to my husband. He said, 'You had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' so I bought six bottles, and by taking it I am not troubled as I was. I am gaining strength and getting fleshy. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt so well. The Liver Pills are the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers you have my permission to use it as an advertisement."—Mrs. SARAH BLAISE, Box 177, Kecoughton, N. Y.

Doing the housework for the average American family is some task, and many women lose their health in so doing. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with headache, irregularities, are easily tired and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

LEGAL NOTICE
NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals will be received at the Office of the Clerk of the Village of Elida, County of Allen and State of Ohio, until 12 o'clock noon of the 11th day of June 1922, for the purchase of bonds of the said Village in the aggregate amount of Three Thousand ($3,000.00) Dollars. Said bonds to be dated April 1st, 1923, and to be in the denomination of Four Hundred ($400.00) Dollars; interest at the rate of 5% per cent per annum payable semi-annually; the first of said bonds to be due and payable October 1st, 1924, and thereafter one of said bonds to be due and payable on October 1st of each year up to and including October 1st, 1931.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of providing a sinking fund for the payment of the Village Portion of the cost of constructing the "Main Street Pavement" and are issued under authority of the laws of Ohio and Ordinance No. 12, passed on the 25th day of March, 1922.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder for not less than par and accrued interest. All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of the bid and accrued interest to date of delivery. Each bond must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Treasurer of the Village of Elida, Ohio, in the amount of 10 per cent of the amount of bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth, within ten days from the time of award, said check to be retained by the Village if said condition is not fulfilled.

The Village reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Main Street Pavement Bonds" and delivered to the Village Clerk.

By Order of the Council of the Village of Elida, Ohio.
Dated May 10th, 1922.

Now We Know Why
People Have
Sore FeetAll in the Joints says
Maine Doctor

"What fools we mortals be!" All these years we have been trying to help thousands of footsore people by bathing and powdering the skin when all the time the real trouble is in the bones, ligaments and cartilage.

Or, to be short, in the joints. There are 26 bones in the foot covered with cartilage and connected with ligaments and they have a tremendous amount of work to do. The slightest strain on one ligament from being "on the feet" too much inflames the whole foot, causing soreness and burning, aching and general misery.

"All this can be quickly proved," says a prominent Maine doctor whose name is known the world over.

Just try a remedy that is compounded for joint troubles only—such as Joint-Ease, which every druggist carries, and see how quickly your sore, tired, inflamed and tortured feet will get well and strong and sturdy again.

Forrest and other makeshifts for just a few days and get rid of all foot misery by using Joint-Ease.

It's a stainless preparation that you rub on your fingers for about a minute and it soaks right in through the skin and flesh away down to the joints—the real seat of all troubles.

And remember when Joint-Ease goes in all foot agony gets out—tubes for 60c cents—Every drug store, Green's Public Drug Store, Hunter's Drug Store, Argonne Drug Store.
